THE KRYON TEACHINGS

Channeled by Mario Liani

The Kryon Group is the name that Mario Liani uses to describe the loving energy of Kryon.

This energy is not a single entity, but a higher consciousness group of angelic realms that operates without individuality and with absolute synchronicity.

Kryon is channeled in several languages by different spokespersons around the world.

Mario Liani is a channel for Kryon in the Spanish language.

TRANSMUTING THE POWER OF THE GREAT WAVE

Channeled on 1-3-2005

Beloved Humans:

It is time to reflect about what happened in the Asian Continent. There has been much anxiety as a result of the events and its implications, and it has generated a great deal of opinions and questions.

Our channels have received all of sorts of questions on the subject and we have decided to give you now a message through this channel. This is a message about the potential for learning that is behind an event such as this. Undoubtedly, this event is no ordinary event or merely personal, as this involves humanity and is not limited to the geographical area where the disaster happened. Furthermore, we tell you that this particular geographical area carries an important message that will become clear to you later.

In order to recreate the type of energy needed to impart what we want to teach you, we will use your cellular memory, activating specific memories stored there and which are related to the subject at hand.

Connect to these images:

There was a city anchored by the sea. The townspeople made a living as fishermen and some other minor trades, and they were in harmony with the earth that nurtured them. The children played happily. Mothers sang while they did their daily chores. The older and younger men whistled coming home after an abundant day at sea. The nights were serene and peaceful, and the cold night air would make the stars seemed brighter, and the men, sitting on the beach, invoked Spirit by the light of the ritual fires.

And so it was day after day.

Suddenly, one night everything changed. A big wave came in flooding the land and sweeping the entire town. Many lives, crops and dreams were lost and the men learnt to fear.

The men and his families fled to the mountains trying to find refuge and to begin their lives anew. Their daily habits and way of life changed and they had to find new ways to survive. Everything was different. And even their songs and stories changed, and in the end, even their beliefs were changed by fear.

Eons and eons and generations later, the children of the children of the children could not remember what happened in the old stories they told, but the atavistic fear and drama of the big wave was stored in their cellular memory as well as the impact the event had on the lives of their ancestors.

The children of the children are now scattered all over the planet. They are not anchored to a specific social or familial group and they do not belong to a specific geographical area. The children of the children are the descendants of the people who had to die and a new race that now populates the earth was born.

These descendants carry, stored in their cellular memory, the memory of the tragedy that destroyed them. It was so sudden. Their cellular memory holds the stupor of the tragedy; in the innocence of the healthy life they led, they never expected Mother Earth to "punish" them this way. They believe they had not done anything to deserve such "punishment."

They were not aware that there were other people in other places that had also suffered tragedies. The others didn't live in harmony with mother earth. They didn't farm or sing, and they didn't open their hearts to communicate with the unseen. They live only to enjoy the experiences of the ego, not sharing with others beings or with mother earth that nurtured them.

Many of them, though not all, were also taken by surprise and those who managed to escape, fled to higher ground, trying to survive so that they could populate the earth with their descendants.

The children of their children are also here with you, all mingling together, without differences. They both carry in their cellular memory, the memory of the disaster that both surprised and destroyed them and forced them to flee full of fear, the fear of dying.

The descendants of both groups intermixed and now their own descendants carry what could be defined as a mixture of indeterminate quasi-memories. This combination of unconscious memories has begun to stir and they have activated the potential for spiritual awakening.

These quasi-memories are not really personal. They are ancestral memories of a humanity that had to face and overcome a situation, memories that have been dramatically activated due to the similar events that occurred in the Asian region that some had to face and others witness indirectly.

Focus on that image and bring it to the present time.

Surprisingly, everything happened in the same way. In some places, the children played while the mothers sang happily. In some others, the people were fishing or working hard to make a living. Others were taken by surprise within the relative security of their homes. These are different times but the situation was the same. The wave came unexpectedly, without warning.

It's difficult to forget those moments. For those who lived it, they will not forget, because not only will they have to carry these memories but they also carry the quasi-memories, which are seminal and genetic, lodged in their DNA and resonating with the magnetic field of the earth.

For the majority of you who didn't have to directly experience the impact of what happened, you were also impacted by their energy and therefore your own ancestral memories were activated. Without knowing how, now you also "remember" and fear.

The great wave that swept that old civilization, symbolized by the image of the fishing town, is not comparable in size to the "tsunami" wave of lesser magnitude that affected the several Asian cities. However, in the similarity of the events is the lesson that Kryon brings to you today.

There still exists an imbalance on Earth that must be corrected by all of you. It's a lack of balance created by many and affecting all, mostly the minorities, who may not be direct contributors of this imbalance.

Analyze the following: the great wave affected mainly those towns that are more ancestrally connected, if you will, to mother earth, more so than many others. Observe how, almost always, whenever a natural disaster of this magnitude occurs, the people that seemed affected the most are the simplest people, the most humble or merely the poorest.

Some of you may ask: Kryon, why does it happen this way? Why do we lose so many locals who live in harmony with mother Gaia and not from other parts of the planet where its inhabitants do not have a connection with mother earth? Why God does not punish those who live in constant imbalance, instead of punishing the innocent in masses?

Dear, Kryon wishes that you see beyond appearances and perceive the symbology of these events. This occurrence is a reminder for all humanity, a clear warning that we have to evolve and thus raise the vibration of the planet, so that we all can avoid the potentials that could be structuring if we continue to create spiritual and environmental imbalance.

Those countries that you call "the first world" are the ones who now have the upper hand since they control the economy that creates internal and external politics. Their leaders could do so much for the planetary ascension by proposing changes in old structures and paradigms. A minority of people (with great political weight) could do so much for the majority (who has very little weight).

The consciousness of these countries that want to create and establish policies that will govern their neighbors represent the opposite of the minorities; the few who have helped to raise the consciousness and get the attention of the many about the need to raise the vibration.

On the other hand, in the area that you call Asia, a change at the level of the masses was required in order to raise the vibration in that part of the planet. An injection for the souls to renewed spiritual potential so that they can be better prepared for the task ahead, since all the entities that come back to earth come back with a higher consciousness and the need to raise the consciousness at a greater planetary scale.

It was required that some left that area of Asia in order to facilitate the arrival of others.

Believe it or not, dear humans, we tell you that there is rejoicing on the Other Side of the Veil for the massive departure (for you), and for the massive arrival (for us). There is celebration and rejoicing on this side because they all have fulfilled their contract and have come home to prepare themselves for their return. And they will come back when they are needed the most, because they will be part of a humanity who will have grown in all levels, mainly the spiritual level.

We are very aware that you cannot understand all of this, since you are trapped in feelings of helplessness and pain over the loss of human lives. We are family and we join you in your sorrow, but we honor it and celebrate it in a universal manner, because the feelings of compassion that have awoken in unison will gain the global empathy needed to raise consciousness as all your intentions and feelings join in a common cause.

However, we ask that you try to use the inter-dimensional vision we have been teaching in the last few years. Look at this occurrence as an operation of cleansing and healing, of which we talked about many years ago, and which will balance or strengthen areas of the planet that are imbalanced at the level of consciousness. Thanks to the departure of all the entities who died in the event, this area in Asia will be revitalized for miles; literally thousands of entities are ready to recognize, in the precise moment, their spiritual potential as human angels. Tomorrow, thousands will awaken in unison. Can you imagine the potential? Thousands leave at once, in an instant, but that also means that thousands will awaken at once and their awakening will create the critical mass that the area needs to awaken. Also, this balances the planet and raises the planetary consciousness.

As you can see, my dears, there are so many potentials related to the disaster in Asia: the seminal memory of the destruction of an old civilization; the planetary alert generated by this event for fear that this could happen again; the resulting realization of consciousness to keep this from happening again; the activation of the potential of spiritual evolution and the revitalization of an area of the planet that needed renewal.

This is a time to reflect. Reflect about what happened; ask yourselves what you can do to anchor your energy to the energy of the place where you live. Create harmony around you, in all levels, and above all, try to connect with the energy of the planet. Begin to plow the farm of your life. Dig, prepare, fertilize the soil, and plant whatever you want for yourself. Plant the potentials of tomorrow because tomorrow is also today, and the harvest will be whatever you plant today. Feed yourself from your own creations, but also plant for the others, they may need something from your farm. If your farm is tended with purpose and intention, it will be a source of joy, happiness and inspiration to others.

And, if a Tsunami ever happens and crashes over your heads, it is very likely that your orchard will be untouched since you will need it to feed yourselves and others later.

Dears, this is the message behind what happened. Try to read between the lines and take action now, because even though you have the power to gestate a tsunami in your lives, you also possess the power to stop it or to simply transmute it.

The Kryon Group, through this channel, hugs you inter-dimensionally and tells you that inter-dimensionally there are no goodbyes, since we are always with you, even though you don't know it.

So the Kryon Group remains here...
