THE KRYON TEACHINGS

Channeled by Mario Liani

The Kryon Group is the name Mario Liani uses to describe the loving energy of Kryon, which is not a single entity but rather a group of highly evolved beings of the angelical realms operating as a group — not as individuals — in absolute synchronicity.

Kryon is currently being channeled in several languages by different spokespersons around the world.

Mario Liani is a channel for Kryon in the Spanish language.

THE TRANSMUTING POWER OF THE MAGNETIC HUMAN ENERGY

Channeled live on May 31, 2008

(Caracas, Venezuela)

It is appropriate to mention that the following text is not an exact and literal transcription of the live channeling; the spoken word possesses an energetic quality that cannot be captured with the written Word. In virtue of this, Mario Liani has channeled Kryon once more in order to make the necessary adjustments so that the text is coherent and the message can be processed by the reader who was not present at the live event.

Kryon's Voice

I am Kryon, in magnetic service to humanity.

Oh, dear human! We give you the warmest welcome, here and now, in this gathering, where the Love of your Spiritual Family is the only thing that matters.

Our metaphoric veil has been pushed aside again. You did perceive it, didn't you? Through this wonderful visualization we provided, you heard a description similar to what occasionally occurs in the interdimensional reality. Even though the description during the meditation told you that the veil was very fine and very tenuous, and that it became so thin that it created an opening... the truth is: we were already here.

We are always here with you, dear human. You are never alone... not even in your worst moments. When you need comfort, we are here in your own thoughts, trying to make you feel the immeasurable love.

Human, when we tell you that we are here, we are literally at your feet; and such is the love and respect we feel for you that we don't mind washing your feet. This is a beautiful metaphor to show you how much love is needed to thank you for having the courage to renounce your angelical essence in order to come here to experience duality.

What is duality? You always ask, and we always answer. Duality simply reflects your two faces: the human face and the angelical face. Don't forget that you are a true angel sent on a mission to change the perception of the world you live in, and to help transform the perception of others.

Neither forget that all of you are connected to a inter-dimensional grid, where the thoughts, words or actions of one, yours, affect all the parts of the framework that links you to humanity, the same one you built, dear human, with your daily actions, but above all with your process of spiritual evolution. Every one of you is a part of this framework and is responsible for the movement of its parts. Human, each one of your acts has a consequence.

Each Act Will Generate a Consequence

Speaking of acts that generate consequences... let's concentrate on the act of your decision to be here this evening (in reference to the gathering of nearly 400 people in Caracas, Venezuela).

As our spokesman explained to you a while ago (during a speech before the channeling session), for many of you, being here is only the first of many changes that will occur in your life, and also in the lives of those who are under your care or under your direct influence.

Your presence here this evening may trigger a profound change on all levels of your Being. All of your multi-dimensional "I's" are now having a magnificent experience, because - in other levels - they are feeling the emotional, spiritual and evolutionary impact that stems from the fact that you have come to hear a message of energetic nature.

This voice you are now hearing through our spokesman is only a part of the "energetic message" that we have decided to attach to your hearts this evening. Through the sound vibrations being transmitted in this room - the human voice and the musical melody - a set of instructions is being generated that will directly impact each one of your energy centers.

Changes in your DNA Code

By coming here, you decided that the moment was here for you to receive codified information in your own DNA. Our spokesman previously told you that these experiences will create important modifications in the human DNA, which is codified with different strands. Some of these strands or codes had not been activated in the human race until the present generation. In fact, the new generation of humans is being born with a new genetic code, which was implanted in order to trigger in the human being the required evolution to undertake the change of paradigm that the entire human race is beginning to activate in this year of 2008.

You have heard Kryon speak about Numerology and know - because we mentioned it on a different occasion - that the year of 2008 is a year that began a new paradigm for humanity, a new phase of nine years during which you will feel the impact of the change towards which humanity is presently moving. Such effect is felt not only from human to human, but also at the level of humanity as a whole, mainly at the level of the physical system of which you are a part... and this physical system is none other than Gaia, your beloved Mother Earth.

Gaia Breathes Through You

Gaia and you are linked: whenever Gaia breathes, she does it through her own lungs, but each orifice in one of those lungs has a name, human. Each one of you represents the metaphoric orifice in one in Gaia's lungs... Mother Earth breathes through you.

Therefore, the transition and evolution of the human race involves the transition of the Planet Earth, because you both evolve together. When you, human being, through your intent gave your Higher Self permission so that He - as our spokesman explained before - could renegotiate the invalidation of a restrictive implant... not only you gave permission to accelerate your own evolution, but you also made it possible for Gaia to "take a step" toward the planetary balance you wish for... Because the human who is aware, the human who has gained spiritual vision by raising his awareness, knows that his own evolution necessarily brings the evolution of the Planet. So, dears, when you made the decision to be here this evening, you have taken an important step to save Gaia.

By Raising the Energy of your Own Country, you are also Saving Mother Earth

Now, how much of Gaia do you think you are saving at this moment? It's simple: you are saving your beloved Country... because you ARE what your country breathes with. In fact, you are the advance guard that your beloved Country has sent here this evening to connect with the need to create choices to improve the energy level of your Country. We can't tell you what that energy level is, because you should know that the energy level of your country is in direct proportion to the energy level of its inhabitants and reflects in the collective. In the end, this collective suggests a predominant energy that generally prevails and it can affect you.

And so, at this moment, you are energetically representing the majority that unconsciously - at a higher level - wants change. When we speak of change, dear, we are not speaking of the social changes you might imagine; we are speaking of concepts such as spiritual perception, transpersonal evolution and soul group (of which we recently spoke). When we speak of soul group, we are speaking of the one consciousness who has decided to have a healing experience this evening, with a focus on the heart of Mother Earth.

Your Personal Experience Transmutes the Collective Experience

My dear human, when you wished for a spiritual experience that would change your perception and help you get on the path of evolution you decided to travel, you have actually aligned with a higher power: the power of all the souls, of all the intentions and all the wishes of that group consciousness that "has decided" to have an experience and to gradually transform it, step by step, day by day. Did you hear what we said? To have an experience and transform it... Why do we emphasize it? Because just like energy is not static, no experience is ever static. Day by day, through your own human intention, the individual experience transforms. If this happens with the individual experience, how can you think this will not influence the transmutation of the collective experience?

Dear, the collective experience is not the one you see every day on your "magic box" (TV) or through what you call "the news"... The collective experience of which Kryon speaks is something else: is the beat of each heart, the feeling in every wish, the projection of a wish, going in search of a dream... the dream of everyone present here representing the great majority. This collective experience cannot be appreciated on the magic box, but it is possible to measure it, since it generates such a powerful energy is capable of literally transforming the lives of a conglomeration of people.

Illuminating a Fragment of your Soul

Dear human, you have been feeling this strong energy of change for a few years now, capable of powerful, individual and social transformation that doesn't seem to slow down. This is why you have come here searching for your own healing, you have felt the calling to be here tonight to hear a message that would light the dark corners of your soul. Do human souls have dark corners? Yes... but when we speak of darkness, we do not speak of negative things. Darkness is only a state of being that implies the absence of light... and the presence of light implies the absence of darkness. They are only energy confirmations that have caused you to think that perhaps in a corner of your soul there is a part that needs to be illumined...

Do you know what, dear? You have the capacity to go to that dark corner of your soul and flip on the switch that will flood with light that poorly lit part of your Being... but, immersed as you are in human duality, you don't understand how you can do it alone... and that is why you are here, along with others who also needed for someone to tell them how to light that dark corner of your soul. Your own duality won't allow you to see that this darkness is only apparent, that this is a trick you created yourself so that you could trigger the necessary potential in your own humanity... so that one day, at a certain time, at a specific place you could come looking for "instructions."

In Search of Instructions for your First Step

Human, I can hear the cry of your heart, I am literally flooded with your tears; I can hear your plea for help... That is why you are here, is it not? Why did you come? Did you come to hear words of consolation and love? I know that you came to hear that you are dearly loved, and deeply respected, missed and admired, oh human, for your absolute surrender to your Divine Being and for the immeasurable faith you have in your own unknown divinity... because it is your own divinity that has made it possible for you to take the first of a series of steps in search of your own healing.

Healing begins with the first step: the fact that you recognized the need to gain balance in those areas of your Being where balance was not present. When you decided to align yourself with the possibility of this experience, all your multidimensional aspects sang your name in unison, all your multidimensional I's vibrated and tremble, they felt joy and, at the same time, a great relief at the news that all of your I's - not just you - would be part of this experience, in this place...

"Formal" Gathering with the Spiritual Family

Human, don't forget you have transcended time and space. This place where you find yourselves now is not physical anymore. This place now has a different energy. There are high interdimensional frequencies here present, you must feel them around you, feel how they hug you and caress you... Can you feel it? Do you feel a part of your being vibrating at this moment? That is the Spiritual Family giving you a warm and loving welcome, because this great family you called here tonight, was already here waiting for you...

When we speak of spiritual presence, you already know what we mean: that we are always "there." However, today, you decided to feel us and we, of course, came to "formally" greet you. You could have said "let's go pay our Spiritual Family a formal visit." You didn't think that way, however, unconsciously, your Being intuited the formality of this long-awaited meeting.

Dear human, you are so funny! We are always with you, however, you seem to think that your busy and complicated day to day is not conducive to the possible materialization of an adequate moment to have a "formal" meeting of this nature. Why do you think we brought about this precious formality? Because in formal meetings, the inclination to accept participation is completely different from the day-to-day energy, during which you would not - even though you know you are interacting with your spiritual family - willingly accept this possibility because you think you need to perform "a ceremony."

Dear human, we know you like ceremonies, and that is why you "summon" us during these precious ceremonial rituals. This is not negative. We like them very much, and do you know why? Because we feel the love you put into these ceremonies to make sure the encounter is something special, something out of the ordinary, not something routine.

Soul Reunion

This is a true "soul reunion," not routine but rather something very special, because we all planned it together. You generated the intention and proposed the agenda. We simply accepted. We said: "Don't worry; we'll be there with you. Have no doubts, have faith that when you go to that Soul Reunion, we will be there. We promise."

This is a Soul Reunion! We really like using this concept because we are all souls and we have come here to reunite at this sort of border where a part of you - who are souls - are here in the physical plane, and part of us - who are souls - are here... as souls relying on your physical bodies. So we surround you, we open our arms and hug you tightly and we "squeeze" your hearts, because we want you to feel the love, the love from home you long for, the love you came here looking for...

The Message is not Verbal... is Energetic

When our spokesman told you (before to the channeling session) that the message of a gathering of this nature is not merely verbal but energetic, he was right... In fact, we wish to reiterate this concept: the message of this evening is not verbal, is energetic. This human voice speaking now is only trying to caress you, nothing else... and with our words, we are going to caress you a bit longer tonight... Let's talk about you and about his very special moment that brought us all together in this space.

We already spoke briefly of the need for each one of you to understand that you have come here looking for the healing of the collective. This healing takes place through your own personal healing, which begins with true awareness and the understanding that your psyche and your emotions must gradually transform. Just as energy is not static, a body is not static, and, consequently, neither are emotions since they are obviously subject to improvement and transmutation.

Those emotional processes that, as the great majority of you have closely observed, impact your lives and the lives of the people you love the most... those are the processes you need to revise the most!

Dear, each one of you has a different focus on life and that is natural because each one is unique, original and unlike any other. Like you say, "no one can be cloned." Perhaps you can clone cells and thus produce physical look-alike entities... However, these physical entities will have a different soul...and that is the fundamental difference, since "soul cloning" does not exist.

You are Magnetic Entities

Each one of you is unique, like a pure and perfect jewel, with a brilliance unlike any other and with a characteristic energy frequency that vibrates differently from the others. When one of these energy frequencies is in contact with another frequency that is different, a situation could occur that would alter the emotional balance of the human beings involved, since you are "magnetic entities."

In a previous channeling session, we clarified for you the fact that you truly are the "Magnetic Service"... and when we say "Magnetic Service," we are actually referring to the fact that we are the support of your human mission, through our own mission - as your guides - to magnetically help you balance your state of Being. As we said back then, given that you possess a very distinctive magnetic energy, Gaia's magnetism, or Mother Earth, is actually comprised of the sum or the product of the magnetism of all the inhabitants of this planet.

Your Magnetic Energy can Transmute the Human DNA

You have understood that the magnetic mission of the Kryon Group is only to help the human being to find the necessary magnetic balance so that each one of you will balance the ones close to you. The magnetic energy you radiate is the cause of all the changes in the human DNA; you didn't know that, did you?

You must be wondering why I said that... it's very simple. We'll give you an example. In the history of humanity different figures have emerged that have been called - according to the different cultures - prophets, masters or avatars. The presence of a special being has a great healing impact when he interacts with others who possess a different vibrational quality.

You have heard or read that these beings had or have the great power to transform the human they come into contact with. This is because the magnetic energy of these individuals vibrates beyond the average frequency. It is clear that these beings possess the potential to transform the human surroundings with their mere presence...

Now that you understand what we mean, if a prophet or avatar possesses this transmuting power... why not you? Is he any different than any of you? No, in fact, he is not, because he is human just like you. The only difference is his magnetic frequency.

In short, each one of you has the potential to magnetically vibrate in such an way that your mere presence, or through your words or physical touch, you could bring emotional or spiritual changes to any one you interact with. Each time you come into contact with someone, you could change their lives through the interaction of your own energy and the other person's energy, or between your magnetism and the other's. This is a power you must not forget, a possibility you should not neglect...

Why do we talk about neglect? We now bring it up because sometimes you forget the transmuting potential that could result from your interaction with another. If this energetic potential is balanced and focused, what kind of effects do you think it would have? You know the answer: the effects would be positively amazing. But, if for some reason you lose your control and become angry, aggressive, irritated and upset... what type of "magnetic" energy do you think you would emanate? What kind of magnetic energy would the other person receive?

It's clear that you are entirely responsible for the balancing of your surrounding environment. Your emotions are responsible for the emotions of others. Do not forget that the love you are capable of projecting from your energetic center in the middle of your chest - your heart - has a great healing and transmuting power.

Conscious Interchange of Magnetic Energy Amongst Humans

We begin by telling you that your magnetic energy can modify the DNA, yours and other's... but there is a very singular thing that tends to happen. Just as you can transform others through the projection (conscious or not) of your magnetism, others can transform you as well! The union of two unique frequencies can produce a very special magnetic result. When two humans come into contact with each other and interact for a while, powerful results can come from this, not only at the level of your physical bodies but also in your emotional and spiritual bodies since they are two entities that agreed to mutually give permission to exchange energy and heal processes, one through the other.

My dear human, if this happens in a spontaneous and unconscious manner - out of your control - can you imagine what would happen if you were to give your permission to openly receive the healing magnetism of someone else - his magnetic energy - and redistribute it in a way that an exchange between the two could take place? What do you think the results would be? Something absolutely wonderful would happen without a doubt.

This is the seed of the kind of exchange human society will have in the future. You are hearing it for the first time, humans! This new future paradigm of which we have spoken, the growth of the human being will be mainly produced and quantify by the conscious exchange of magnetic energy between humans.

Healing Begins in the Heart

You knew this already, but at a very basic level. In fact, you would say something like this: "So-and-so affected me. I was feeling well and when he came over, I felt ill." Or maybe you would say the opposite: "I was so depressed and when so-and-so came, I don't know what happen, but I immediately felt better." You could have also said something like this: "I was at that place not having a good time, but after a stranger sat next to me and smiled, and then left without a word...something happen in my Being. Something changed within me. I don't know what happened but I feel his presence in my heart..."

In the end... what are we talking about, dear? We are talking about the heart, that powerful energy of intention that comes from the energetic center of emotions and joins the powerful spiritual intention to transform for the better everything around.

Answer to Questions... not yet Formulated

I hear what some of you are saying to me: "Oh, dear Kryon, I'm on the right track, I know it, but there is something I still cannot control, something I cannot heal. Why does this happen? I want to personally speak with you and want to feel your message. Perhaps this evening I will understand what I need to understand and what I need to do." Others, on the other hand, could be thinking: "I don't understand, Kryon, I feel lost. However, I came here seeking your help. I contracted that possibility tonight and I don't have any expectations, neither have I placed any restrictions. I am open to the message I will receive, I will process it, and I am sure that I will find the answer to the questions I have not yet formulated."

Do you understand me, human? You also came here with a question you haven't formulated yet... but even if you haven't asked it, you have a question, and in this moment you are hearing - in your heart - the answer to that which you didn't ask. That is what this evening's message is all about. Do you understand why we said that is energetic and not verbal?

Most of the people here came mainly looking for some kind of spiritual guidance, but "that" which you came looking for... Kryon knows, because Kryon received the information... through your presence. We know what it is that you came looking for. You came to ask Kryon the following:

"Oh, dear Kryon, I am very spiritual. You know how much I pray, how passionately I meditate, how I dream of a better world where relationships are completely honest, open and detached. However, do you know what happens in my daily life? In the context of my personal life I can't figure out how to reconcile the search and my spiritual practices with my daily work, profession, with family and friends. Why is it Kryon - being that I am Being with an evolutionary consciousness and knowing that I came here to evolve - that I find myself in a situation that doesn't fit in with how I feel? Why does life seem to push me to do something that takes me away from my spiritual essence, from what I have always desired? Am I pushing it away myself with my own attitude? Do I not understand how to attract it to my life? Am I being influenced and sabotaged by others? Do I allow others to influence me, and that is why I can't find the ray of light that will lead me to the door I believe should open for me? What is happening, Kryon? What should I do? Can you tell me?"

Reconciling Spirituality through your Physical Vehicle

We understand you perfectly, human, that is why we are here! We know of your anguish and peremptory need to reconcile your mundane life with your spiritual search. Now, the question I would ask is this: are you sure you are not reconciling your spirituality with your day to day life? Is that what you think? Let's revise some of what you do in your daily life. Perhaps you will be surprised. It could be that you don't perceive clearly what is happening.

Allow me to explain something to you: what differentiates one human from the other is the way you do things. Each one of you incarnated, leaving behind the divinity of your Angelical Being, in order to exercise, practice, transform and transmute your own ability or to discover a new ability. Dear, this ability lies in the way you conduct yourself as a human being, that unique and special formula that makes you perfect, original and different from the rest of the human beings.

Your true ability and master potential to manifest abundance and material prosperity in your life - the one you yearn to improve and become an expert at - is there for another reason, it is also to be used to exercise your spirituality, and to reconcile both tendencies (your professional talent and your spirituality) simultaneously.

That, my dear human, is "The Alchemy of Being" you are supposed to achieve in your life expression. The human being that discovers that he is a very special being who has come to live his humanity with his own physical tools, also knows that he is evolutionary and, therefore, knows that he should count on what he has and who he is. This human being understands that the search for spirituality must be realized through the exercise of his own physical vehicle. Therefore, don't look at your path as a bifurcated road for which you need two different vehicles in order to travel on them simultaneously.

"Kryon, my work is a certain productive activity, and at the same time, I practice spiritual activities which are diametrically opposed to my main activity. It bothers me greatly to have to work on mundane or material activities! The truth is that I would prefer to dedicate all of my time to the spiritual."

Oh, dear, have you ever thought that Spirit might want you learn to do it "all at once?" Have you ever thought that your true ability is to be perfect and successful in the exercise of the physical world; giving everything you do a highly spiritual focus? Do you think is too difficult? Look, it's not hard at all, you just need to broaden your field of perception a little more and understand that the "spiritual" is present in every act of your daily life.

Being spiritual is not about kneeling at a temple and mechanically repeating a particular prayer twenty times, nor it is to attend a religious ceremony out of duty. To be spiritual is to understand that you, human, with your mere presence have the power to change the life of the whole world... that your smile can bring joy to someone who is sad... that a hug from you can redirect someone home... there are many ways to be spiritual and the exercise of spirituality is through the practice of a loving attitude.

Through some of you here present, we are going to examine the different types of human personalities, so that you can understand that everyone can be spiritual in his own way.

The Role of the Conductor

Let's begin with you, sitting here right now. We know that you are the know-it-all, the self-assured, the one who likes to do everything himself, the one who likes to drive, rather than being driven. You are a natural leader: that is your most noteworthy quality. So, what would a self-assured person do? The obvious: to tell others what to do, because he possesses within himself the knowledge that this is what is best for the others. In other words, my dear leader, you are someone who has the innate potential to lead others to a place of safety. Then, what is expected of you? That you lead! Ah, here is the crux of the matter... you don't feel comfortable with yourself, because you think that practicing leadership is a mundane activity - material or commercial - that has nothing to do with the spiritual.

However, we are going to show you that it does have everything to do with spirituality. In fact, the mundane activity you practice, the one that puts the bread on your table, it is in truth a real classroom for those who interact with you during the practice of your daily exercise of leadership... because during this practice - unknowingly - you teach others to recover or learn their own self-esteem, to feel better about themselves, to determine when is the right time to take the first step and take the lead, do you understand?

Your transforming potential has to do with your human essence. If you could understand that your human essence can be exercised in a spiritual manner... it could become a real 'magnetic' transformer so that other people, who will feel the magnetic impact, can ask: "why can't I feel the way he does? Why does he have to tell me what to do?"

The Cooperative Role of the Follower

Who would say something like that? This time, I am talking to you, "follower." Every leader obviously has to lead someone; therefore, he needs to have a follower. Who are the followers? Those people that will give body to the experience that the leader conceived and directed, so that others can contribute the necessary potential to materialize it.

So, follower in search of answers, you would probably ask Kryon the following: "Kryon, why do I always depend on others? Will I ever take the first step? Why am I always standing in someone else's shadow? How can I be spiritual when I feel unable to reconcile my needs with the needs of others?"

Ah, dear human, your great potential is your spirit of collaboration. It's what makes you unique and defines your mission in life: your willingness to bring the necessary energy of cooperation that will help materialize an objective shared by others. Therefore, your contribution will be added to the others who, like you, are placing their intention in service of a common cause.

Then, what would the driver be without you? He wouldn't be anything. If a leader does not have followers, who is he going to lead? Under the spirit of mutual collaboration - of which you are an expert - you gave the driver what he needed in order to materialize his mission, the driver, on the other hand, this gives you the experience you need in order to achieve your own vision: the vision that you are something other than a cooperater, that you can achieve your own power, lead your own life and that it is your decision as to when and how...

The Role of the One who knows how to Materialize Tangible Realities

We can also examine the role of an executive, a business man or a merchant. In your society, these people usually are labeled as "materialistic." In some cases, this label can be derogatory, is it not? Is it wrong to be materialistic?

"Oh, dear Kryon, I am worried, do you know why? I considered myself a spiritualist... but I recognize that I am also materialistic. Because of it, I feel the need to achieve success in life and recognition for my achievements. I feel the need to increase my legacy, so that I can provide for all those who depend on me financially. However, this makes me feel impure, particularly when I have to impose my materialistic views on people who do not understand that this is in my nature and one of my virtues. Is it possible to reconcile my human potential for being materialistic with the search for spiritual balance?

Ah, my dear human, have you considered the possibility that thanks to your ability to materialize realities, the people around you depend on you to reach specific objectives or expand material resources? Why? Because you, with your Midas touch, turn everything you touch into gold! Have you considered how many people envy your Midas touch? They envy you because they don't know the secret you possess to get everything you have. Have you thought about the far reaching consequences of everything you are teaching those who don't know how? Did you know that to all these people you are a teacher in the art of the materialization of tangible goods? These people would like to "emulate you," because, deep down, they wonder what your secret is. They want to learn from you. So, my dear human, here is where your spiritual attitude comes into play. If you - businessman, executive, merchant, banker - understand that your role in life is not only to create riches but also to teach others how to do it by giving the example, you can then become a true master in the art of materialization... and this, dear friend, "is spiritual."

The Role of the Emotional Provider for his Family

And to you, dear, whom I see every day... I feel you... I perceive your energy of emotional exhaustion. Why do you feel tired?

You don't understand that life has placed you in a situation where you have to be responsible for other people whom you have to care for tirelessly. We know that you work hard and worry about them. Do you know why? You know it: because they depend on you... this gives you a bittersweet feeling. On one hand, you are tired because you feel weight of this responsibility, and you wonder if there is anyone else who can care for them. On the other hand, you are happy to be of use to others, mainly those in your family unit, because you feel that you are the backbone of this family. Are you mother or father? Or perhaps a grandmother, who feels she "should" be responsible for the mistakes of his son or daughter...

"Oh, dear Kryon, under these conditions, how can I be spiritual? Yes, part of me understands that I have to sacrifice myself for those who need me, but another side of my Being feels bitter because this sacrifice keeps me from doing things for my own spiritual growth. Now, I don't have time to go anywhere, or to attend seminars. Furthermore, I had to ask someone to watch my kids so that I could be here tonight."

Dear human, you know who we are talking about, don't you? There are some people here that had to do that. So, dear human, do these responsibilities keep from being spiritual? Absolutely not. Perhaps you don't have time to go to that seminar, meeting or course you wanted so much to be a part of, because someone needs you to be elsewhere.

But, how can you give this person your loving care if you feel distressed and bitter because this responsibility kept you from "being?" You will do well to keep in mind that you came here to accomplish a mission with your loved ones, those who depend on you. Even though they expect the best from you, this is not going to happen through sacrifice or obligation. They simply expect that you "be who you are," and that you give them your loving care and protection... and we expect you to take responsibility for the magnetic "influence" that they could receive from your actions.

We assure you that the right attitude would create a miracle: the miracle that these people will change and learn to take care of themselves, instead of relying so much on you... because you have taught them to do it through your own example, by giving them your loving spiritual energy. And that is how your presence and attitude could create miracles and literally change someone else's life. You will be their mirror... and being that, you will have in your hands the potential for your life - the one you considered ordinary, boring and humdrum - to turn into a true life mission for you and for those who are connected to this essence.

When they understand this, it won't be hard for you to achieve it. Everything will happen in the most harmonious way. And do you know why? Because the ring of magnetic energy will link you to one another... and in the end, it will form a real chain of people, situations and events that originated in the healing that you, dear human, launched forward just for "being" what in essence you already are...

Human: Be Yourself

Lovingly, Kryon says to you: be yourself. You don't have to change. Just try to understand that you possess the potential to change others by the way you practice your humanity along with the proper spiritual attitude. How do you achieve this spiritual attitude? By practicing it. You can read, take courses, learn different techniques... but in the end, you should try to practice a feeling: the feeling that your wellbeing depends on others and that others depend on your own wellbeing; there is a magnetic chain that links everyone; the framework we have talked about is a true reality.

Strumming the Strings of the Interdimensional Framework

That is the framework in action: when you activate with one little finger a string of this framework, all the other strings of the framework vibrate. For example, when our dear musician friend present here (Victor Castillo) presses one of the keys on the keyboard, the other keys feel the vibration and clamor for a finger to lay there so that they can also sing. That key the musician plays produces a vibration within you, and you feel "something" as a result of that vibration. This feeling, this perception is also magnetic healing produced by the music that causes a vibration in everything around.

Our dear musician friend could also be asking himself how he can practice his spirituality...

"Dear Kryon...Yes, I am spiritual and enjoy all of this. In fact, I am writing spiritual music, but, what happens with the other aspect of my life? In fact, I am also a producer, I do commercials and sometimes I have to write things that I don't like, compose music that do not convey the kind of spirituality that I want... but that is my business, that is what I do to earn a living. How can I reconcile my life with spirituality?"

We also tell the musician that beyond the fact that he is here tonight, helping us open our hearts through the love and gentleness with which he plays each one of the keys on the keyboard, he can also play the keys of his daily life with the right spiritual attitude.

With this newly acquired attitude, every time he comes across the commercial themes he usually has to deal with, he will do it with a renewed spirit, because he will know that his attitude will be a powerful agent of change. Maybe one day, when you turn on your magic box (TV) and you see a commercial for a product presented in an unusually spiritual manner, you will wonder, did that musician come up with this? Perhaps he did, but we are going to assume that it was not him. However, maybe the truth is that he, with his new attitude, influenced another musician or promoter, in short, the one that created the commercial.

In the end, what happened? What we previously stated: someone strums the strings, and the sound vibrates and echoes in the framework; the whole framework moves and the strings clamor to be played by the magnetism of the one who played it first... but, is there really someone who plays it for the first time? No. Rather, we are all doing it at the same time... you and us. You, with your presence, originated a sound in the inter-dimensional framework. Now everything vibrates. Each heart here is vibrating with the energy of change that you, dear human, will take home tonight. We, with our presence, originated the need for the strings to be played at the right moment.

The Transmuting Magnetic Power of the Human

What will happen when you get home? Many things can happen. Some of you may not be able to sleep tonight, while others will sleep soundly, and other yet will have intense dreams. Others, as soon as they go through the door, will hear this comment from their families: "What is it with you? You look different. There is something about you. I don't know... are you happier?"

What will cause them to ask these questions? Simple, they will sense a change in your magnetism, and this change will cause your newly renewed magnetic energy to influence your environment. And that is how a string influences other strings and keys and they also want to be played. Whoever sees you tomorrow, will feel the need to "be touched" by you. When we speak of touch, you know what we mean: we are speaking of energetic touch, emotional touch, and spiritual touch. That's what this is all about, dear.

Pretend to Live your Role as a Human

The subject of tonight was healing through your own emotional and spiritual attitude, with focus on your own physical potential, which hides the fact that you are an angel disguised as human. This disguise is so real, so vivid and so perfect that you have no choice but to forget that it's only a role and become the "character" you are playing. You are not pretending, you "are."

Forget your disguise for a moment and be yourself. Just try to be what you are today... what you have always been, dear human. There is no difference. It's just a matter of "remembering" with your heart. Tonight, we are going to remember with the physical memory, because in your human duality you are not allowed to remember these details.

Simply live the experience you came here to have. Be what you are, live everything to the max and learn what you can. Perfect your abilities teach others and become - as we said in this room in a previous meeting - your own teacher.

Being your own Teacher

Let's remember those moments... Be your own teacher and reclaim the mastery you know is yours by right: your energetic inheritance, your seminal inheritance and your multi-dimensional inheritance. In fact, your other inter-dimensional "I's" are asking you to reclaim that inheritance. It's your own inheritance. No one can contest it. Just reclaim it, go back home and change other people's lives by the practice of Being.

Everything we have told you, we know you can easily accomplish, because you have triggered the mechanisms that will set in motion this and other unconscious related processes - as we said before - through the negotiation you have initiated, or will initiate, with your higher self.

Negotiating with the Multi-Dimensionality of your Being

Perhaps everything we have said tonight has found an echo in your consciousness, but we will now bring it up again. So, it is time to negotiate with your Higher Self, with your multi-dimensionality or with the other parts of your Being that make up the beautiful reality that you are.

Human Being, you can renegotiate your contract. Something ails you? Is there a physical problem you wish to heal tonight? Observe it; look at it for a moment... but not with anxiety or unhealthy melodrama. Simply view it as a "friendly process" that has been with your for some time. View it as a process that was born in you, that brought you to interesting people who created important changes in your life and brought on sensible changes at a perceptive and emotional level, finally promoting a new self-evaluation of your Being.

Farewell to a Friendly Process

View the process you call "illness" as a friend. Look at it but don't call it "illness," because you are not sick, human. Speak to it like this:

"Oh, dear friend... you have been with me for so long, haven't you? I would like to thank you from the bottom of my heart for everything I have learned, and thank you for the contract I agreed to carry out with your presence."

"Your loving and dear presence has made it possible for me to learn many of the things that were high on my priority list during this life mission. I truly appreciate everything I have learned from you. I am grateful for this agreement. I wish for both of us to understand that we have completed it and we don't need each other anymore."

"It's time to say good-bye, dear friend. I release you. I free you with gratitude and love, because I know that you have done what no one else would. You have taught me so much... and now - grateful for your teachings, and after I see you go - I will begin to teach others everything you taught me through your close contact with my Being. You taught me so much that I have become a true teacher on a subject that I am now very familiar with. Therefore, I release you, my dear friend."

" And you, my dear Higher Self, and to all of you, dear multi-dimensional aspect of my being, I let you know that in this moment I completely renounced that little contract, that small clause, and that small restriction that I placed there when I decided to come here. I don't need it anymore, because there are new things I want to learn. Now I am willing to learn other things of which I have consciously deprive myself so that I could learn that lesson that I don't need any more. Therefore, my dear Higher Self, I agree to dilute, eliminate, erase, cancel and transmute that restrictive implant that I accepted. And so is said and done."

Why "said and done?" Because you stated it with your own words; you affirmed it to your Higher Self. With your words, you let all your multidimensional aspects that shape your true spiritual identity know that you are ready for a new experience; that you want another opportunity and that you are willing to make the most of it, whatever opportunity comes your way, because you decided to be here, now, very present in this life time.

Humans Creating their own Miracles

Human, you are the one who decides the state of health of your body. You decide. You have the power to create your own miracle. No one can create a miracle for you if you don't give your permission. Therefore, why do you need to give someone else permission to create a miracle for you, when, in truth, you are the one who gives permission to him to say to you: create a miracle?" It sounds like a riddle, but that's the way it is.

Therefore, forget the middle man and say to yourself: "I am the creator of my miracle. I have decided to be healthy." So, heal your body, heal your soul and heal your emotional process, by negotiating with your Higher Self so that the processes that need to be healed come up, define themselves, get aired and complete healing. Oh my dear human, during the healing process there are no extreme concepts such as "win or lose" the battle... because the words "win" and "lose" are two extremes of one reality, and between those two extremes there are countless shades. There is no winning or losing. There is only great learning.

Healing your Financial Process

And you, dear, whose financial process is suffering, the one you carry on you back as if it were... I'm not even going to say it... Perhaps you label your financial process as an "old friend," like the other person we mentioned before (in reference to the word "illness). Talk to it, talk to the friend you call "financial process," the one that worries you constantly and keeps you up at night. It's very probable that if you sincerely talk to that great friend called "the financial process," it will give you the key for its healing. It could happen any time of the day or night, or during a dream... because everything, absolutely everything can be healed. The only thing you need is to state your honest and sincere intention. That intention lies in your own heart.

With the Flowing Energy of Love...

So we conclude this message tonight by asking you that - wherever you go tonight - you go with an open heart. The first deed should be connected to the healing energy that emanates from your heart. Wherever you go - whether you go home or someplace else - try to take the energy of love flowing from the conscious opening in your emotional center. That energy is the key that you need to open the first door and go through the threshold that will lead you to the answers to all the questions you had tonight... or the healing you yearn for.

We remind you that you emanate a magnetism that can change lives when it comes into contact with the magnetism of others. Your magnetism can literally transform lives though the power of your own intention joined with the mastership of your timeless Being. Together, you can negotiate the creation of any miracle you desire, because you are the creators of your own miracles. There is no need to say anything else on the subject.

Healing the Heart of the Great Spiritual Family

The last healing you are going to promote tonight is related to the great Spiritual Family present here. They are the ones you can't see... but you can feel in your heart.

There is great energy around you since the whole celestial court is present. Among them are some of your own families, those that "changed address" by moving to another dimension. They are here with you tonight, because the objective tonight was to have a meeting with all those who represent your Spiritual Family.

Even though your Spiritual Family is "All There Is" - because we are all Family - you have a family that is closer to you. That immediate family that left one day is here with you now. You have no idea how happy they are to be here tonight and to be able to share a moment of truly intimate contact with you.

Though most of you cannot see them, you must be feeling them, because they "want to be," without demands, impositions, recriminations, not even nostalgia - because nostalgia is a human trait. There is only the desire to embrace and to love. Therefore, these beings present here, dear, embrace you with their souls and say, "do you remember me? I love you, and I'm here now because I have anxiously waited for an opportunity like this to tell you that, in a more intimate manner... and directly into your heart.

Even though we are always with you in energetic form, it is a great joy to be present here with you... My dear, remember that there are no good-byes in the inter-dimensionality. Therefore, we don't really leave... On the contrary, we remain here. Our physical communication is only briefly suspended. We lovingly embrace you and give you our love.

You are tenderly loved. Kryon blesses you. Good night to all. Go in peace...
